Course Information
Course Code	EN335	* (Credit Hours)	32	* Credits	2
* Course Name	Selective reading in Shakespeare
(Course Type)	Selective course
Audience	English undergraduates
(Language of Instruction)	English
*	School of Foreign Languages
Prerequisite
Instructor
	? ê ¼ " — .
*	Subject Overview: This course aims at giving a broad introduction to Shakespeare's dramatic works from a variety of thematic, historical or formal vantages. Approaches taken to the plays may include a chronological introduction to the development of Shakespeare's plays with considerations of principal themes through a number of Shakespearean plays in historical context. Students are required to read original versions of Shakespeare's dramatic works and prepare for text-analysis, in-class discussion, themed writings and performance. Critical thinking is of vital importance in class-participation, panel discussion and group-presentation. The course encourages the students to render theoretical as well as aesthetic evaluations and exchange their own thoughts in class.
course syllabus

* (Textbooks & Other Materials)	1. Margreta de Grazia and Stanley Wells, eds. The Cambridge Companion to Shakespeare, Cambridge University Press, 2001. 2. David M. Bevington. How to read a Shakespeare play. New Jersey: Baker & Tayl, 2006.
More
Notes

1 *

2 300-500