| *Description          | The course of Discourse Analysis is an optional course to be delivered at the 7th semester for those fourth-year English majors. The course will reference to two books, one is Advances in Discourse Studies (1st edition) written by Vijay Bhatia, John Flowerdew &amp; Rodney Jones, published with Routledge in 2008, the other is An Introduction to Discourse Analysis: Theory and method (2nd edition) written by James Paul Gee, published with Routledge in 2007. These two books will bring students systematic knowledge regarding various approaches to discourse analysis. The course will be focus on six major approaches to discourse analysis, that is, Conversation Analysis, Critical Discourse Analysis, Corpus-based Discourse Analysis, Ethnographic-based Discourse Analysis, Multimodal Discourse Analysis and Genre Analysis. |   |                  |         |   |

With such knowledge, students will be encouraged to focus on their own project investigating a specific topic of their own interest. The data could be collected by themselves or drawn on an established corpus.
